CHAUTAUQUA

Will Soon Be Here—Advance Man Arrived Monday to Make Arrangements and Advertise Coming Attractions.

That chautauqua week is near at hand is evidenced by the arrival of Mr. H. P. Collins, the 25-day advance man. He has inaugurated an advertising campaign that will continue under local direction until the unqualified success of the undertaking is assured.

Announcement of an exceptional array of talent is made this season in elaborate souvenir programs which carry on the cover a full length portrait of Miss Alice Nielson, the headline musical attraction. These programs contain comprehensive descriptions of the many other chautauqua offerings, and illustrations representing the various sessions of the chautauqua week.

As usual, the chautauqua is employing many varieties of outdoor advertising, and in addition to the material which is being distributed by the 25-day advance man, there are several specialties which the 9-day advance man will introduce on his arrival.

Mr. Collins states that all children holding junior season tickets will be eligible to membership in the Junior Redpath Club which was organized on the Redpath circuit last season. Attractive blue and white buttons will be furnished each member. Announcement of a contest for boys and girls will be made within the next few days.

Mr. Collins states that the conditions over the entire state are highly favorable for a record breaking chautauqua season. Business conditions are good and there is every reason to anticipate a great work.

NEW PLAYERS

Catcher Coalbecker arrived this morning and will be given a tryout by Manager Jones as soon as possible. Several other new players are expected to arrive in the next few days. With the new timber Manager Jones expects to build up a winning team so here's hoping that the new men come up to expectations.

The High School Annual arrived Monday. The book is a very interesting review of the school for the past year.
